It can be difficult for clients to navigate the health care system and to find the care they need. Intervention Associates can arrange access to useful community services. We will set up in-home care and other services for clients to help them continue living safely at home. We have the relationships and expertise to make the right referrals to specialists and care providers.

One of our preferred partnerships is with Caring Friends Home Care. Caring Friends' offers direct, nonmedical home care and concierge services, such as:

- Personal care
- Dementia care
- Live-in care
- Dietary monitoring
- Medication management
- Household management, errands and transportation
- Participation in doctor visits and appointments
- Companionship and accompaniment to activities outside the home
- And more...

Caring Friends Home Care is now owned by HouseWorks (www.house-works.com). Their success comes from an emphasis on ability rather than disability, recognizing that prolonging and promoting independence is crucial to maintaining quality of life. Caring Friends Home Care consistently delivers services of the highest caliber because they employ, train and supervise their own caregivers, aides, and social work assistants. Caring Friends' experience in the field of direct nonmedical home care and concierge services is an important reason why Intervention Associates maintains a strong connection with them.
